Founded in 2015 as Clayton Consulting & Event Planning, (CCEP), has strived to strengthen the community both by helping people in need of a little assistance after a life altering emergency situation. The plan was thought of by founder Zak Clayton who was run off the road in August of 2014 while riding his motorcycle. We work to assist our local and Veteran 501c3, Non-Profit Organization or

Simple, but Meaningful by Zak Clayton

We live in a time now where, even though computerization has made things easier, we are all always in a hurry. Waiting in line, traffic, walking behind someone, even fast food does not move at a speed that is conducive to our busy lives. No matter how well you plan, plot or schedule there is always going to be something that gets in the way of a timely chore. I am going to say it a couple times, so I might as well start now. The best thing to do is, start earlier. Now, funny thing about this is, when we are ready to start earlier, we make the mistake of instead of adding time, we rearrange the schedule. Instead of leaving at 11 to be somewhere by 11:30 o we can be at our next place by 1, we think, if I leave at 10:30 I can be done at 12:30. This does not help us or our stress level. If anything, it increases our stress. If something happens, and we are not done early, we are upset because we started early, and it did nothing. If we keep it simple, take off early, and use that extra time to slow down, take a breath and relax a little, with intentions of finishing at the original time, you will feel better, less stress and could find yourself doing amazing things because, well, you can. While you are in line at the store, you can have a stress-free conversation with the veteran standing behind you, thanking her, him for the service they gave to our country. You can hold the door for someone who is having a tough time with an arm full of laundry and a child trying to run, kicking and screaming. Smiling at someone will replace walking past them with your head down in indifference. These small things could make the difference for you, but it could really pick up someone else who is having a very tough time. It is also, for your own amusement, funny when you take a minute to say high to someone waiting in line and you surprise them. You can tell that that is something that is lost today.

I find it amusing when I pop off with some dim-witted comment, usually at my own expense, and the people around me are caught off guard. At first, they will not know what is going on. Then they take a minute and walk away with a smile, shaking their heads, but in a much better mind space, at least until they get to their car. This also gives you something to look back on for the rest of the day. I was in line a little while back with something for dinner, cookies, candy, chips and little toys. I was trying to get ready for an event with kids. It's my story, it was for the kids. There was a lady behind me that sees a, I'll be proper here, girther fella purchasing all this junk food. I could feel her thoughts. I took a second, looked at my purchase, looked at her, and had a revelation. I turned, grabbed a Diet Soda, looked at her and said, "I've got to watch my girlish figure." It not only made her laugh, but the clerk, who up to this point really was on cruise control, stopped, looked up at me and smiled. I explained what I do, what the junk food was for, and handed them a card. The other day, I got a Facebook message from that clerk asking me how that figure was looking. I quickly replied with, a lot like a globe. My diet Soda was defective. Yes, I realize diet soda is fattening, but that does not make a funny statement. This day, while I was running around, honestly, a little stressed, I could not stop thinking about the looks of the faces of my in-line companions. It would make me giggle and honestly, shake my head. I have also encountered these same feelings and responses when I thank a Veteran, lift a water for someone int a cart, allow someone to line skip because they are obviously in a hurry. But this only happens if I am not moving at a frantic pace, feeling rushed and frustrated. I have begun to ask myself, why? Why can I not plan to where I can always have an extra 30 seconds to just smile, say hi, bust out with a weight vs gravity joke? Other than getting stuck in the door.....sorry, I really do not have a reason why I cannot do this.

Start early, then don't stop. One suggestion can, and will never, solve the problems of the world. Especially when it is coming from the writings of a guy who is, "too busy," to read books. Okay, too busy, maybe not. But I do have a bad habit of falling asleep when I read. Huh, am I complex or full of it? Stress is, and always has been a killer. I am currently listening to Dale Carnegie's book, How to Stop Worrying, and Start Living. I cannot suggest this book enough to anyone. This book was published in the early 50's, but there is not a single thing that I have thought, "that would never work today." Mr. Carnegie interviewed so many people that found ways to overcome stress, fear, and complication, and went on to become the most successful of the 30's, 40's and 50's. Most of the names are names are responsible for contributions that still help run the country today. It is astonishing to me how many of them had to overcome mental roadblocks in order to clear their path to happiness. Every one of them found a way to relieve their stress, which either improved their health, or saved their life. I am not sure if leave early was ever a point suggested, but I know for a fact, not even one of them suggest starting late. They suggest taking a nap, love this book. Start early, then don't stop. Maxwell Maltz, a plastic surgeon was the person who found that there is a scientific pattern that it takes 21 straight days and it then becomes a habit. I question, is 21 days of a little unorganized in order to extend your life or improve your health? If you can remove a little stress from yourself and hold one door a day, you will truly be part of a positive change in the community for two people. Hold a door and shake a stranger's hand, three people. This means that in the 21 days, you will be positively changing the day for you and 42 other people. And this would be aided by simply leaving early.

Clayton Consulting & Event Planning would like to offer a second way to accomplish more while you save time and put smiles on many more faces as it happens. The ClaytonPIF Fundraising Program gives you the opportunity to donate and help those in the community without spending any extra time, doing anything extra, or altering your plans at all. We understand that leaving early is not the only answer. Lives are still lives, and there will always be times when things do not go as planned. There is very little down time today. We respect that. We also would like to help you with that. We created the ClaytonPIF Fundraising Program for you to be able to help people why you do the things you need to do. We don't ask you to spend any extra time, fit it into your schedule, and best of all, spend any extra money. All we ask is that you choose a ClaytonPIF Fundraising Partner to complete your task. There are not specific days or times that these companies participate. If they are open, you do business with them, and turn in the receipt to CCEP, you will raise money for a cause, or, multiple causes in a day. Now let's say you need to get insurance, an oil change, set up family pictures, and grab lunch before noon. You can get this done and donate four times while accomplishing this daunting list. Then, treat the love of your life to a spa day and head out to the mountains for dinner, a beverage and the beauty of Colorado later that night. You have donated six times and not had to go out of your way to do it. Oh, and if you open the door to someone who is coming in or out of every partner, you get where I am going.

Time is so valuable to all of us. It is hard, even with planning, to find time to go to an event that is scheduled on a single night, except for the Community Assistance Dinners the third Thursday of every month, check www.ClaytonPIF.com for details. Money is unfortunately the way of the world. With the holidays coming up, money is even more scarce. Saying that, this is the time that we give the most. With people located throughout the community. We, like them, are asking for your help. The difference is, Clayton Consulting & Event Planning llc. Is asking you to simply shop, shop, shop. Our Fundraising Partners, www.claytonpif.com/fundraisingpartners, want to help you help our community. It is just as important to them to live in a healthy strong community and they are thrilled that you are willing to come to them to help support our community. We also are very involved with Toy and Food drives. We need locations for collection boxes. We are also offering kids a free pizza to help us decorate a collection box. Please call us at (970) 714-0490 if you can help.

We try to do everything possible to keep it simple, but meaningful. You shop, you donate. These fine companies are willing and support strengthening our community. Helping people, helping local merchants, and the knowledge that you, by imply choosing to shop at a specific shop, have made this happen. CCEP is dedicated to our community. Dedicated to making sure that these great partners can stay in business. Dedicated to make sure that our neighbors can get back on their feet. Dedicated to help smaller 501c3's and non-profits gain the support and recognition that they dearly need. We invite you to join us in our mission to support these communities in Colorado. We have worked very hard to keep this simple, but for those in the community, those in need of a helping hand, it is more meaningful than people will ever know.

by Zak Clayton

It has been a very long, exciting, difficult, fun, exhausting, encouraging, painful, inspiring, frustrating, and rewarding last four years. Both, as a whole, and as individual years. For every defeat, there has been a victory. Every sorrow, encouragement. Every pain, a lesson. We have met so many good people along the way. Good people with great hearts, great people who just need a little assistance, guidance, or a helping hand. Organizations that work a lot harder than the recognition they receive, and business owners that will do everything in their power to make sure the strength and health of Colorado is in the forefront of daily operations. Volunteers and friends that have seen the advantage, and have fully supported helping the community, simply by utilizing the ClaytonPIF Fundraising Program. We would like to thank and apologize to everyone for your patience. We have rebranded, changed the system, program and procedures, trying to find the perfect program, sorry to say, we are not there yet.

We do have two immediate changes coming January 1st including the change of the program name, The CommunityPIF Fundraising Program will be born on December 25th as we ask the community to help us feed as many of our Northern Colorado neighbors as we can. We thank everyone for supporting ClaytonPIF. It has been a pleasure for me to give my family name to a program that gives back to the community, and those within the community who need our help. But it is time that Clayton gives way to The Community. The Community has always been the name of the game. It is now the name of the Program as well. As the founder of the company, it has always been my dream that CCEP, yes, we are still Clayton Consulting & Event Planning llc. is just a piece of our community puzzle. With the name change, in my humble opinion, it can be recognized as a part of the program, truly meant to be for the community, with the community, and because of the caring people in the community. The other change has been instituted already, and we will announce it, well, now. We will be choosing three causes every month that will share undesignated receipts with Colorado Cares. Why? We are still going through a teaching stage of the program. Until this change was instituted, undesignated receipts were used to help Colorado Cares mission of immediate assistance within the community. We feel that if we can get local causes, national causes, a CPIF Eligible Cause, and Colorado Cares, we will assist people in understanding the program. This does not change how the program works. When you visit a Community Pay It Forward Fundraising Partner, you have the power to donate to the CPIF Eligible Cause of your choice. If you do not choose, receipts will be split equally between the four causes. We will choose from the list of CPIF Eligible Causes, one from 501c3, one from our heroes, and one other that matches the month we are in. For example, stroke prevention month will benefit a family that is dealing with the effects after a stroke within the family.

This is a call to you. If you need assistance, now is the time to get involved, now is the time to get the help that you need. I would like to offer a little advice, please, feel free to take it or leave it. I know firsthand what it is like to feel the discomfort of asking for help. My picture was featured on a benefit poster. It was awful. After I was run off the road, the people I love got together and held a motorcycle poker run for me. They fought hard to help me through the fact someone needed my lane more than I did. Lucky for me, I did not need a new battery because they came to shut off my bike after they ran me off the road, motorcycle batteries are crazy expensive. (Insert emoji here.) At the same time, my circle was trying to help in my day to day care. This was a group that together, we spent almost every weekend raising money for one cause or more. It was too much for some. It caused conflicts, it caused confrontation and problems that split friendships. I still today, over four years later blame myself. No this will not happen every time. But we would like to offer you an alternative. The CommunityPIF Fundraising Program asks your connections to simply shop. Visit out Community Pay It Forward Fundraising Partners and then turn in a receipt with your name on it. No muss, no fuss, no stressful events. You contact us. We discuss your situation. If it is within our guidelines, voted on by an independent council, we will give you a flier to pass out to your social circle instructing them where to shop in order to Pay It Forward. These partners have offered to give a donation when a purchase is made. Here is the catch, they need to shop there. That is right, there is no catch. Oh, one other there thing there is not, any extra money spent. We ask people to do what they are going to do anyway, and they can help you at the same time. Your company frequently holds business lunches? Start having them at The Windjammer in Loveland, The Burnout in Milliken, G5 Brew Pub in Severance, or Bulldog Pub & Grub in Greeley, ask them to turn in their receipts, and the partners will donate a portion of your purchase to you during your difficult time. Once again, all we are doing is asking them to go and enjoy the best food in the area and turn in a receipt.

To all my 501c3, non-profit, or for-profit service providing friends, we pose one question to you. Why leave any money on the table? You work very hard to support a mission that is very important to you, we want to make sure other likeminded people in the community know of your efforts. We together can ask people to join Phil's Pro Auto in Greeley to get an oil change, and he will donate $10, or 5% of any other service performed. We can ask our business friends to use Compustar, computer solutions for the micro business, Inklings Custom Screen Printing, Colorado Promotional Supply, Personally Yours, with their 30 plus years of promoting Greeley businesses, and our newest partner BES, Business Equipment Supply. You can not only build your business, you can be a part of building our community. You work hard to push complete your mission, let The CommunityPIF help you find people to support what you do.

During my recovery, my youngest son was given a once in a lifetime offer to visit Germany, Austria, and Switzerland. Just a quick little rant here, when I was in High School, the biggest trip I was offered was going to Kansas State. I was thrilled. The trip cost my parents $150. Yes, I have a basic knowledge of economics, no I don't, I know things cost a hell of a lot more than they did 28 years ago. 28 years!!! (enter 2nd emoji.) Our schools and churches are sending deserving students to wonderful and exciting places. But it comes with a large price tag. The CommunityPIF wants to help your child go on these trips. I am still heartbroken that I was unable, due to my disability, to send Justice on this trip. We would like to offer you a chance to help make sure you never have to deal with this heartbreak. It works the same way, buy one of the books from the Bad Road Rising series, written by local author Mike Baron, you can send your circle to the wonderful ladies at GiGi's Salon & Spa for a great look, JKM Therapy for a massage, Market 4 Caster for financial health, or Colorado Krav Maga for training, exercise, and self defense, or by purchasing tickets to watch Mario fight for our kids. and your child will be able to go on these once in a lifetime experience.

We could not live our lives with the freedoms that we do without the actions, honor, and sacrifices, our heroes. Veterans, first responders, community volunteers deal with situations that we, as civilians, are shielded from because of their heroism. They are the first to step into danger, and quite often, due to poor governing choices, the first to get shut out of much needed assistance when they require it. The strength shown by these brave women and men is beyond reproach, but with continued stress and pressure, the mightiest oak tree will collapse without care. If your organization aids our heroes, we would like to talk to you about a package that will raise money when you book Theron Roberson to take your party or event to the next level, Rapid Rooter Service for any and all of your drain issues, including inspection for sale or purchase of your home, that transaction can be handled by Colorado Reality Solutions.

Imagine raising money to make an area safer or creating a program that will benefit the community simply by calling on Five Star Coatings for powder coating metal projects, designing and wearing a unique design with the outstandingly creative mind of Ploegstra Patches & Unique Boutique, shop at the great Beavers Den Leather, or, and this is not an exaggeration, insure anything with Riverside Insurance. If you have an idea to help improve the community, bring it to us. We will need a full project vision, plan and cost estimate. We would love to see your plan to help bring improvement to the area, and with a plan put into motion, watch as your dream becomes part of other people's benefit.

We are here to help
by Zak Clayton

Every request will be given time. We will research your request, and if it falls within our parameters, our approval board will vote on your request. It is our mission to help as many people as we can and if your request is denied, we will let you know why. If it is something you can fix, we will re evaluate our decision. Please note, we are not a loan company and if your situation demands immediate funds, you may want to look in other directions. The more effort you put into the program, the more the program will work for you. The CommunityPIF and our great Fundraising Partners, want to help you, but as the saying goes, nothing good comes without effort.

We do offer immediate, donation driven assistance including clothing, toiletries, school supplies, toys, household supplies, food and volunteer services when available. This is the Colorado Cares Outreach & Entertainment program driven by CCEP. We ask for donations from the community and we offer it to the public when it is needed. The limitations on this program are far lessened. We want to make sure people are as prepared to deal with difficult situations and offer temporary replacements after a personal or catastrophic loss. If we can help you, call us at (970) 714-0490.

We would like to visit with you about your situation or organization. I would like to offer a little advice to you, nobody, nobody, likes to ask for help. Many do not until it is too late. There is no shame in needing assistance, it is a part of life. The longer you delay in asking, the deeper your need will become. If you are on top of the situation, if you trust and believe in your friends and family, then it should not be difficult to think they would not be willing to turn in a receipt for your benefit. I would like to once again point out, you are not asking your circle to donate any extra money to you. We are asking them to compile their "to do list" and utilize the Community Pay It Forward Fundraising Partners. It is a simple action for your complex and unique situation. Please, don't take on the world on your own, don't think you are alone. Others feel your pain, others support your cause. Truth is, they just need to know about them. ## Top Five Topics to Discuss with Teen Drivers

And a Contract to Keep Your Teenage Driver Safe
By Scott O'Sullivan, The O'Sullivan Law Firm

Lately, I've seen a lot of those driver academy cars around my Denver neighborhood with very freaked-out-looking teenagers behind the wheel. The weather is nice and I'm sure that parents of high schoolers are dreaming of the freedom they'll enjoy once they have another driver in the house.

I'm sure the parents are also looking a little freaked-out, too. Putting your teenager behind the wheel is a terrifying experience! Not only do you worry about their own abilities, but you worry about all of the other drivers on the road. Personally, I learned to drive on my parents' property, tearing up our long rural driveway and surrounding property. I can't even imagine learning to drive on Denver's busy roadways.

So, in an effort to help parents through this scary time and to keep our Denver teen drivers safe, I'm including the following in this blog:

Top Five Topics to Discuss with Teen Drivers
Parent Contract for Teen Drivers

Please print this up, share it with friends, and sit down to discuss it with your teen driver over one of those sticky "coffee" drinks they seem to like so much. You could be saving their life.

Top Five Topics to Discuss with Teen Drivers

It may seem like Parenting 101, but you need to have open communication with your teen regarding their driving habits and responsibilities. Below, you'll find the Top 5 topics you should discuss with your teen driver before handing over the keys.

PRACTICE SAFE HABITS IN THE CAR

Remember that, when your teen becomes a driver, he or she will likely be responsible for the safety of others. For a while, they can only drive a sibling around but soon they will be able to drive friends. Their safety awareness and habits may save their life and the lives of your friends' kids. Remind them to:

- Always wear a seat belt and make your passengers wear seat belts.
- Obey all traffic laws and posted signs.
- Never speed or drive aggressively.
- Keep both hands on the wheel.
- Do not drive in adverse weather.

LIMIT DISTRACTIONS: CELL PHONES, FOOD AND MUSIC

Technological distractions are one of the most dangerous aspects of driving today. Parents need to not only demand that their teen driver practice un-distracted driving habits, but parents need to model them, too! Every driver in the family should adhere to the following:

- Never use your cell phone while the car is running. This includes talking, texting and even GPS usage. Pull over to call, text, or to figure out where you are.
- Do not use earphones or mp3 players in the car.
- Do not eat while you are driving.

NEVER USE DRUGS AND ALCOHOL

Drivers who use drugs and alcohol die or kill others. Especially when they are teenage drivers who have little experience behind the wheel. Have a heart-to-heart with your Denver teenage driver about the following but also promise them that you will pick them up, no matter where they are, no questions asked. They need to know that calling you is a safe, calm option. (Reminder: teenagers have always had access to alcohol and drugs. You want yours to feel safe calling you if he or she has made a mistake.)

- Never drive if you have used drugs or alcohol.
- Never allow drugs or alcohol into your car.
- Never allow passengers who have used drugs or alcohol into your car.
- Never get into another car with a driver who has used drugs or alcohol.
- Never get into another car where drugs or alcohol are present.

BE A GOOD FRIEND

In my experience, most teenagers want to do the right thing... but they also want to appear cool to their friends. Teach your teenager to be the one who gives other teens "permission" to be safe. When you're in the car with another teen driver, speak up when you notice unsafe behavior! There is a good chance that your friend just wants your "permission" to be safe without trying to impress you.

CALL ME

Parents need to be their teenager's safe haven. Allow them to call you for any reason, no questions asked, to pick them up.

Call home if you are concerned for your safety as a driver or as a passenger. (I promise not to ask embarrassing questions in front of your friends.)

You might even plan a "code" for your teen to use if he or she is in an unsafe situation but doesn't want to "rat out" a friend. For example, "Mom, I feel really sick. Too sick to drive. Can you come get me?" Giving your teen a way out of unsafe situations is your job as a parent. But make sure not to embarrass your teen in these situations – if you do embarrass your teen, he or she won't call you the next time!

A Parent Contract for Teen Drivers

Parents, take note! Before you hand the keys over to your teen driver, you need to have a heart-to-heart about your expectations and the consequences your teen will face for ignoring them.

This does not have to be a "put the hammer down" conversation. Remember that this is an exciting time in your teen's life (and their newfound freedom could translate into more freedom for you, too!).

The teen-driver contract below is meant to inspire positive conversations, help you and your teen to agree on consequences, and reward good behavior! (Parenting 101 stuff)

In the end, it all comes down to keeping our teens safe.

TO MY TEEN DRIVER

This is an exciting time in your life! You can drive!

This is a terrifying time in my life. You can drive!

As you know, car crashes are the number-one killer of American teens. That is a scary statistic for a parent handing the keys over to a teen. At the same time, I understand that your new independence as a driver is important to you and potentially helpful to me.

Therefore, I want us to agree to some fundamental rules for your driving experience. If you follow these rules, you will maintain your driving privileges. If you do not, you will face consequences. Likewise, I have included my own promises and responsibilities, and I have even included rewards if you exhibit outstanding driving behavior.

Together, if we abide by these rules, we can keep you safe and give you the freedom you desire!

BEFORE YOU DRIVE

Check in with me before you drive.

Let me know where you are going and what time to expect you home.

Tell me who your passengers will be.

Consequences for violations: No driving for ____ weeks/months.

SAFE HABITS IN THE CAR

Always wear a seat belt and make your passengers wear seat belts.

Obey all traffic laws and posted signs.

Never speed or drive aggressively.

Keep both hands on the wheel.

Do not drive in adverse weather.

Consequences for violations: No driving for ____ weeks/months.

PASSENGERS

Never drive with more than _____ teenage passenger(s) in the car.

If you believe your passenger is being unsafe or distracting you, pull over and call me. You can tell me a white lie so that your passenger is unaware of your concerns and I will come get you! (For example, "I suddenly feel too sick to drive.") (See "CALL ME" section below.)

Consequences for violations: No driving for ____ weeks/months.

CELL PHONES, FOOD AND MUSIC

Never use your cell phone while the car is running. This includes talking, texting and even GPS usage. Pull over to call, text, or to figure out where you are.

Zev Wellness Therapeutic Massage

Robbie individually tailors each treatment by utilizing deep tissue, trigger point, relaxation, and optional cupping techniques together.

Deep Tissue: Deep tissue massage utilizes a set of techniques to manipulate the tissues, loosening knots and tight muscles, and relieving troublesome, painful areas.

Trigger Points: Trigger points are places in muscles that cause pain locally and also send pain to surrounding areas. The work can be a little intense, but the effect is less pain in all of the affected areas.

Cupping: Cupping utilizes suction to effectively loosen the tissue. A great adjunct to deep tissue work, when used together, the deep tissue work is effective much more quickly.
